

Wide, down-to-earth streets used by pedestrians and vehicles alike. Featured the Rivers of 1908. Note raw-lumber sides of business places that marked second avenue west of Main . . . and compare it with another view of the same thoroughfare, taken shortly after (to be found in these pages).