

Cardale Station.

sports and social events. Times changed, steam went out and diesel came in, just one train a week, passenger coach was gone, and very little freight, so eventually the station was closed. Mr. Fred Porter was the last agent in Cardale and he closed it in 1963. In Nov. 1964 Ralph Espey bought it and moved station by 2 cats, operated by Fortune and Radcliff. Moved the station across town and set it on a cement foundation, he remodelled it into dwelling house. The present occupants are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Koscielny.
